The Transitional Leader: The Art of Multi-Directional Leadership

In most organizations the leaders “in the middle” often face unique challenges. At this level, there are expectations and pressures from subordinates, peers, and senior leaders. This course provides practical tools that will help supervisors discover the art of leading in a multi-directional environment, foster collaboration, building resilient teams, and utilize influence to achieve collective goals.

Through guided discussion, small group activities, and self-assessment, participants will:

- Explore the characteristics of the multi-directional leader
- Explore the art of delegation
- Explore the art of leading up
- Learn practical strategies for leading during challenging times
- Learn the keys to building and leading teams

8 hours
